

ALIAS Season 2 Introduction

Fandom/Gift: ALIAS

Konu: An introduction post about Alias' Season 2, written for Operation Alias, as the leader of S2 Events that were designed.

"Mom?"

And the screen fades black.

For 3 months.

On 2002, Alias said hello to the showbiz, and within 6 months, it was a legend. You couldn't expect more, see more, live more.

But on 1x22, the writers showed us that we were wrong.

It was only the beginning.

On the first season's hiatus, with the power of mouth, Alias nearly doubled over it's audience number, and when 2x01 aired, everyone was ready to see "the plot".

We were waiting to see a horrendous face, an evil side, and a killer gun. But as usual, we were wrong again.

We met our mother. We learned that she was "The Man". We got shot, we got survived, we escaped, and then it all turned upside down.

From the very first moment of Alias, it was about the family. We "tried to learn to trust each other" as Jack said, and it was all of it.

Season 2 was the season that Alias re-invented itself. It crushed down, and like Fawkes, it made itself reborn from it's ashes.

We were working for the day SD-6 gets "killed", and when the day came, it was all a shock. On like shows Alias, you think this makes you see 5 or 6 seasons for seeing that day, but what did I say? We thought wrong.

On season 1, all of the episodes were "OMG HOW THEY CAN END IT HERE?!", and on season 2, all of the episodes were "OMG HOW THEY CAN END IT HERE AND WHO IS WHAT, WHAT IS WHO, WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO?!".

And then we were waiting for the day our two young spies get together. And it was on that day too! "They kissed omg omg!" were all around :)

It finished? I don't think so. It never finishes. The second "bad bad enemy" has revealed right after SD-6 got "killed". Can't we ever get rest for a minute in this world?!

And of course, the root of the show, Bristows. On 22 episodes, we saw a family can kill together, spy together, love together. On 22 episodes, we built a family, and we felt like we were a member of it. On 22 episodes, we had the most awesomest parents of all times, and we were proud of it.

When 2x22's 3rd act ended, we were like "okay, this is the end. We are doomed."

But what did I say? Don't make me repeat myself.

Yes, we thought wrong.

Alias Season 2 has the best of everything, and it has the best season-finale of it's history.

Two years.

It became a keyword on all fandom. Say "two years" and everyone will understand what you are talking about. Our neighbour fandoms know it. Your parents know it (cause you screamed a big WTH when you saw the episode) and you can never forget it.

Yes, season 2 was the best of all. After all, in which show you can get your mother back, eliminate a big bad alliance, clone people, shoot people, get tortured, get loved, get watched, get killed and survived?

You think you know an another show like that? Oh don't make me repeat myself.

You thought wrong.

Fazla zahmetli, farkındayım, ancak çalışmayan bir servis sunmaktan iyidir diye düşünüyorum.
